HARVEST FESTIVAL AND SUPPER

The service for Harvest Festival will take place at in the church followed by a Harvest Supper. If you would like to join us, and we hope you will, please bring a plate of food to share.

RESPONSE

As one of your former Parish Councillors I would like to respond to the notice from the new Parish Council that appeared on the front page of last month’s Hundon Herald.

In so far as the election of Councillors was concerned, Sue did receive nomination papers from the County Council, but did not receive any instructions whatsoever, nor a date by which the papers needed to be submitted. As a result of this, myself, Helen Ballantyne Andrew Jeffreys and Jenna Mayes failed to submit our nomination papers.

It is for this reason that, at the Annual Parish meeting, at which there was a lot of heckling from a couple of individuals, the four of us decided collectively to stand down along with the clerk Sue Button This meant that there was no longer a quorum and so the meeting had to be terminated.

The subsequent election for the new Council included 3 new members who joined the remaining members of the old Council. To say that the handover to the newly formed Council was problematic, and taking longer than anticipated, is hard to understand as firstly, the 3 former councillors have between them many years of experience serving on the Council (one of whom has served as chairman several times). and secondly, all relevant paperwork and documentation was handed over following my resignation.

As far as I am aware, your new Council has not yet held a properly constituted meeting and so cannot be serving the community as they should.

I did subsequently apply to fill the vacant seventh seat, but was unsuccessful. I was advised of this simply by somebody calling on my home phone and asking to leave a message for me. If this is an indication of how matters will be dealt with, then I really do not hold out much hope!

Doug Nimmons

HUNDON WINE CLUB

Last month about twenty enthusiasts enjoyed a most interesting and erudite presentation from Charles Eaton of Nethergate Wines. Eight different wines were tested and tasted; three whites, a rose and four reds. All were interesting and provoked a lively discussion between Charles and the Members. Prices ranged between £7.50 and £15.95 and represented very good value for the types of wine sampled. A visit to Nethergate Wines at Depden Green is recommended, where the visitor will be faced with more than 60,000 bottles to choose from. Charles explained that by purchasing from the vineyard direct and not using an Agent or going into Bond, meant a saving of about £26.78 per case, which, in turn, enabled him to be competitive with many of his larger rivals.

FROM THE REVD CANON STUART MITCHELL AT THE VICARAGE IN CLARE

Dear Friends,

It has often been said 'Don't put off till tomorrow what you can do today'. Jesus said 'be dressed for action, have your lamps lit'. I'm inclined to go for both as a reminder that not only should we be prepared for any eventuality but we should also go for it now, immediately and not wait. But that then offers a huge contradiction when we read in Psalms to 'Wait on the Lord'. Wait-not wait.

You see if I was a person who could make decisions I wouldn't have any trouble at all; but I'm not an impulsive type of person. I must have all the information to hand before considering the next step. Over the years I have come to understand that waiting has benefits and often as not an impulsive decision brings chaos and calamity. Inevitably what that means is impulsive decisions cost me time and likely as not money. Waiting, or more descriptively, prevaricating, does bring a reward eventually. I once was impatient, but I didn't have the time to make a career out of it.

Now I prevaricate and hope something good comes along in the time I spend weighing up the pros and cons, carrying out a strength and weakness analysis. I'm the person who invested in a Sony Betamax video recorder. The quality was top notch. Sony refused to give a general licence and JVC (I think) sold the world the VHS recorder. I had both. Thankfully I never got caught up in the Video disc race. Image for those under the age of 30, a CD or DVD the size of a vinyl LP record (33cm or 12 inches in diameter). The latter back in fashion. I didn't get caught in Eight track stereo players. Even I saw that they were doomed before ripping the cellophane wrapper off the box. The compact cassette I liked and I was mainstream until the CD. My home PC is a distant cousin of the IBM personal computer (that's what PC stands for). About as close as the Austin Seven is to an Aston Martin.

But here is the thing that has me prevaricating today. Where do I go after the PC? For once I stayed with the masses though there are other options for computing, data storage, image processing, video streaming and music playing. And of course writing the vicar's letter. So how should the vicar's letter be composed? And then how should it be disseminated to any who may wish to read it?

In my possession I have a very fine Parker pen. Once the property of my late father it sat in a drawer for over thirty years. I filled up the reservoir with ink (the stuff we used to get on fingers whilst having handwriting practice – it matched the red knuckles after a rap with a ruler for making mistakes) and began writing. What a joy. What bliss. On one side of the desk are some envelopes, on the other I find a small quantity of coloured self-adhesive rectangle paper with an image of HM the Queen on one side. I do believe that if something I would write on a sheet of paper were to be folded in a precise manner and slipped into the said envelope and a sticky coloured piece of paper placed in the top right hand corner and something called a postal address appended to the said envelope and it were to be placed in red cylindrical receptacle, I am led to believe someone may be able to read the contents of the letter. Now how do I do that around the readership of thirteen churches? Do you see my predicament?

It took the writing of St Paul hundreds of years and much prevarication in councils to get his work read by BILLIONS of Christians around the world. Sometimes, just sometimes, waiting on God for his glorious mysteries to be unveiled is worth every minute of the wait. And the PC question – well it will probably be Apple or perhaps not. I have had enough of PCs but do I really want to throw away years of experience and start all over again?

As ever

Stuart

July 2019

Wednesday 31 July – Eleven of us set off on a cloudy morning and headed for Tiptree. The aim was to visit all or some of three places, Wilkins & Sons Limited, Fruit Growers and Preservers, The Cheap Shop, especially for the crafters amongst us and finally, Perrywood Garden Centre. We all went on the farm tour at Wilkins, our guide had been an employee for many years. Our tour included seeing the apple, pear and plum orchards, the medlar, mulberry and quince trees. The rhubarb fields and beehives. The cherry orchards, where they light bales of straw overnight in the early part of the year when the blossom is in danger of being lost to frosts. The acres and acres of little scarlet strawberries, brought over from America many years ago and the type of strawberries we buy from the supermarket, grown under cover and in the open. They were all growing elevated for easier picking. During the tour we were shown the saffron garden that David Smale, our last speaker, is just planting up at Wilkins. All in all the tour and the whole day was felt by all to be very interesting, enlightening and enjoyable.

August 2019

Sunday 11 August - East Ruston Old Vicarage Garden.

12 of us set off on a cloudy morning, aboard the Clasp minibus. We arrived just before opening time at noon, and headed for the amenities, I'll let you work that one out!! If you've not been there before it's what I call a larger than life garden. The old vicarage was purchased back in the 70s and had not been lived in for a couple of years, there was no garden. Over several years the owners worked on developing the many gardens on a part-time basis. More land was purchased to develop it to today's fantastic space. No amount of pictures could do the garden justice so these show a bee on a dahlia and a huge bowl of succulents.

HUNDON WI

Our planned speaker was taken ill but our own member Sally Russo brought forward her planned evening of gentle exercise doing chair yoga. Sally is passionate about the benefits of yoga and has travelled to India among other places to study it and has trained as a yoga teacher. She started us off very gently with chair exercises we could all do. After our exercise she took us through a soothing and calming relaxation session. The relaxed atmosphere was clear to see and feel and we are all looking forward to our next session with Sally.

Our next meeting will be 'Tales of Suffolk' narrated by Malcolm Bugsby, 'The Bard of Suffolk'

Thursday, 12th September at 7.30 pm Visitors welcome.
Visitor's fee £3.50

LIFELAB IS COMING! JOIN US ON 27TH AND 28TH SEPTEMBER TO MAKE NEW DISCOVERIES

You're living in a global centre for new discoveries. In our area, right now, people are finding ways to personalise medicine for each patient, they're measuring how obesity could affect your children, and discovering new ways to help our bodies fight disease and much more.

Friday 27th and Saturday 28th September are your chance to make your own breakthroughs, when LifeLab will transform shopping centres, cafes, bars and public spaces around Cambridge, Peterborough and Ely into discovery zones for all ages. For these two days, the people making these discoveries will be popping up all across the local area to share what they've found with you. And the best part is, most of it is free!

There will be activities to appeal to all tastes and ages; whether you like to get hands-on, listen to talks, or enjoy a comedy night, there's something for you, your friends, and family. Above all, there will be plenty of chance for you to share your opinions and ideas as you chat to the people making exciting discoveries happen.

LifeLab events will give you access to researchers from five world-leading research organisations on our doorstep: the Wellcome Sanger Institute, the EMBL European Bioinformatics Institute, the Babraham Institute, the University of Cambridge, and the MRC Laboratory of Molecular Biology. Teams from each of the partner organisations came together to deliver LifeLab 2018 and a diverse programme of events in Cambridge and Peterborough last September - for a taste of what to expect this year, watch the short video summarising LifeLab 2018 at <https://youtu.be/1dhxyIAV4QA>.

In 2019 LifeLab returns to Cambridge and Peterborough and launches in Ely! We're currently working hard to finalise a stimulating range of activities and the full programme of events will be announced in early August. Prepare for a laugh a minute as researchers take to the stage and join The Variables at the Cambridge Junction for some science-themed stand-up on Friday 27th September, or join events at the Espresso Library and Portland Arms to explore the latest research and what it might mean for you. On Saturday 28th September, a diverse team of researchers will be creating a pop-up lab in the Grafton Centre for some interactive activities and stimulating encounters. Alternatively, plan a visit to the Cambridge Science Centre to have a go at some LifeLab activities and meet the researchers behind the science (Friday evening and throughout Saturday).

If this information leaves you wanting to know more, follow @camlifelab on Twitter, Facebook or Instagram for the latest updates. You can email us at hello@camlifelab.co.uk to receive an alert once our full 2019 programme is announced. In the meantime, and for more details about LifeLab, please visit camlifelab.co.uk and keep an eye on our blogs page as the team and researchers involved in LifeLab share their stories and excitement as we get closer to LifeLab 2019!

LifeLab is brought to you using funding from the European Commission. It's part of European Researcher's Night, an annual celebration bringing science together with society, that happens in countries across Europe on the last weekend of September. Join our celebration of the globally-leading research that is happening in our region, learn something new and perhaps see another side of science.

We welcome you to LifeLab 2019 and look forward to seeing you there!

West Suffolk taskforce needs
YOUR VIEWS
 on rural issues & opportunities
www.westsuffolk.gov.uk/rural

Our newly setup taskforce needs your views to help identify opportunities and issues in rural areas.

One of the first actions of the new West Suffolk Council was to set up a rural taskforce with the aim of helping to ensure the unique factors affecting our rural communities are taken into account in our decision making.

The first step is to make sure we find out what those factors are from people living and working in our rural areas. Please can you take a few minutes to fill in the survey and tell us what you see as opportunities and issues in your area.

The survey is online at www.westsuffolk.gov.uk/rural or available in hard copy at council offices on request from policy@westsuffolk.gov.uk or 01284 757633.

Thank you.
